

Citizens' involvement in EU climate policy making – insights from the Conference on the Future of Europe

Description

This workshop session will present the process of the Conference on the Future of Europe and its meaning for climate and energy policies and citizen participation in EU policy making. Additionally, the session will focus on the citizen panels of the Conference, their function and current activities. Speakers will share insights from three countries – Germany, Estonia and Hungary - where political institutions and civil society perceive the Conference, its citizen panels and citizen participation in differing ways.
